

Japan Marches On
Mr. Knudsen's Aspirin
Some Have Money
Champagne $1.95
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—The Japanese, persistently pushing their plans for Asia, took Shanghai yesterday with the usual formula, "troops and airplanes landed." The airplanes fiercely opposed, then troops marched in where airplanes were prepared the way.

The United States, as usual, has been warning and protesting, pulling chestnuts out of the fire for other nations. France, Britain, Italy have kept quiet, relying on the United States to irritate Japan, while they continue business with China and Japan.

The League of Nations looks for a "clash" between the United States and Japan as inevitable and is calm about it.

Many Americans wonder why it is necessary for this country to pick a quarrel with the Japanese who are bigger and better customers of ours than the Chinese by at least one hundred millions a year. The United States is not the father or mother of China, why must it seek trouble?

Kind-hearted pacifists may learn something from the situation in China and Japan. China is thoroughly pacified toward the outside world, thoroughly unprepared in a military sense. Japan, thoroughly belligerent and thoroughly prepared, sends 40 battleships to Shanghai, many carrying airplanes, also sends submarines that rise and discharge airplanes from any spot desired.

It should enlighten the sweetest pacifist to see the pitiful condition of unprepared China, with 400,000,000 people, threatened by small Japan.

Our government, for a few minutes, might cease worrying about all the other countries on earth and pay attention to its own neglected airplanes and submarine fleet.

Dr. Chen, speaking for China at the League of Nations, says Japan is starting this war against China as she started the Russo-Chinese-Japanese war and the Russo-Japanese war, planning "to dominate all Asia, including Australia."

All Asia perhaps, but NOT Australia. Britain adds the East India dominions would interest themselves in the Australian question. And so, for that matter, would this country. It is none of our business Japan does in Asiatic China. But it ought to be our business if Japan should interfere with white people in Australia or New Zealand.

W. S. Knudsen, president of the Chevrolet Co., told 100 agents and salesmen at the Los Angeles Biltmore hotel yesterday that a good way to treat present conditions may be borrowed from a story published in Life.

"A man went to bed the worse for wear, and awake to see, at his bedside, a monster with horns, a spiked tail, and smoke coming from its nose. At first he was alarmed, then, as the monster, if you do not treat me properly, I am going to take me aspirin tablets and swear you be!"

If a few millions of Americans could swear off alighting, the business boys now sitting at their bedside would flourish.

Some of us Americans still have money. The state of Louisiana sold some of its books in New York City. One, an illuminated psalter of the 15th century brought $61,000. The ultimate owner of the beautifully illuminated psalter, after Dr. Rosenbach, dealer, sold it, will pay more than $81,000. Look at the book two or three times, show it to friends occasionally and put it away, occasionally, in a safe.

For ten dollars he could have bought books by Jesus, and Edgington, that would give him information worth while. Some men feel that they buy culture when they buy expensive old books. They are mistaken.

The government of Finland, having thrown out prohibition, solves ingeniously the problem of discouraging bootleggers, a problem that would interest this nation, should we ever get rid of prohibition here.

Finland will sell vodka, the Russian drink, 40 per cent alcohol, 60 per cent water, for 30 cents a bottle; brandy, 60 cents for cheap grades, $1.95 for the best. And, interesting to those that feed their money to night clubs and speakeasies, Finland will sell champagne at $1.95 a quart.

At Poona, India, one of Gandhi's followers, L. P. Bhopalkar, found a company of British prison cell.

It was a huge cobra that for 10 minutes, head reared and swaying, Bhopalkar, not daring to move or cry, Edger J. R. Fox had made some money of about 1000 times.

Millions in India. Millipede the deadly cobra or treat it with divine honors, before you put it to death.

LEATHER FIRE PLOT PROBED

Two Inquiries Started Into Suspicious Blaze That Menaced Entire District

The suspicious incendiary fire that destroyed the Boston Mercantile Mart last night, causing damage of $300,000 and injuries to 23 firemen, was the center of an investigation by police and the state fire marshal today.

South state, and firemen said there was no evidence the sprinkler system had operated. It was reported the system was turned off a week ago.

It is the fourth fire under investigation by Deputy Chief Albert J. Confield in charge of fire prevention. He spent the night at the scene.

State Fire Marshal Howell, whose jurisdiction includes all Massachusetts except Boston, said that 23 arrests have been made since the first of the year for incendiary fires outside Boston.

Last night's fire, for which four alarms were sounded, was out of control for three hours and burned for 13 hours, until shortly before daylight, menacing the wholesale leather district and the South Station freight yards.

THREE SERIOUSLY HURT

Firemen suffered from smoke inhalation, flying glass and falling debris. The three most seriously affected were taken to City Hospital.

They were Michael Haykins and Stephen Gavin of Ladder 10, and Frank Doyle of Engine 27. All will recover.

Armed guards transferred all registered mail from the South Postal Station, Beach at Atlantic ave., and 200 employees worked in the building for nearly two hours despite the smoke and sparks which clouded them.

Firemen were hampered by clouds of smoke from the burning rubber and leather stored in the building. A battery of water towers was rushed to the scene. Practically the entire district was obscured by clouds of thick smoke and firemen worked on short shifts to lessen the possibility of their becoming overcome.

U. S. JOINS BRITAIN TO STOP JAPS

Shanghai, Jan. 29 (AP)—Strong rumors were current tonight that the Japanese intend to take over control of the international settlement here tomorrow, and in well-informed circles it was said the British Consul-General J. F. Brennan was willing this step should be taken.

London, Jan. 29 (AP)—Great Britain and the United States will take joint action in dealing with the Chinese crisis, it was announced in Downing street today.

The British government has asked the Japanese government to take no action inside the international settlement at Shanghai without prior consultation with the other governments concerned.

Great Britain has informed the United States of this action and invited Washington to take a similar step in Tokyo. This was in reply to British conversations with Secretary Stimson.

Further British action will be delayed until a reply is received to the inquiry as to Japan's version of just what happened in Shanghai. Maritime officials here consider the defense forces now in Shanghai are sufficient to deal with the situation.

The cabinet met this morning, but there was no indication that things have reached such a stage that Prime Minister MacDonald need return from a visit to Edinburgh before tomorrow night.

In his absence Stanley Baldwin has assumed general direction of the cabinet business.

A strong note of anxiety over the effect of the Japanese action in Shanghai was shown in comments in London morning newspapers, including even those ordinarily favorably inclined toward Japan's attitude toward China.

U. S. Ships Are Dashing to Shanghai

Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press

Manila, Jan. 29 (AP)—Four destroyers of the American Asiatic fleet sped away from Manila harbor today for Shanghai, as wild rumors spread that the United States had declared war on Japan.

A cruiser, 11 other destroyers, 12 submarines and a number of auxiliary craft buzzed with activity as their companion ships steamed out of the bay.

SHANGHAI SLAUGHTER CALLED HORRIBLE AS JAP ARMY DRIVES IN

Shanghai, Jan. 29 (AP)—The battle of the Chapei section of Shanghai, which has raged practically continuously since last midnight, when the Japanese invaded the city, had become a virtual massacre today as leaping flames and roaring air bombers withered the place with destruction.

This afternoon Japanese planes bombed a stretch of track on the Shanghai-Nanking railway, bottling up a Chinese armored train and severing railway communication with Nanking. Telegraph and telephone communication was cut.

Onlookers who thronged the rooftops of the skyscrapers in Shanghai's business section throughout the day to watch the area become a shambles said the slaughter among the 200,000 Chinese inhabitants was enormous.

PLANES SHOWER DEATH BOMBS

Japanese airplanes roared over the spot every 20 minutes, releasing a thundering mass of bombs, against which the Chinese were powerless to defend themselves, except with their feeble rifles and machine guns.

Forty Chinese airplanes arrived in Nanking this afternoon and their pilots insisted on going to Shanghai immediately to engage the Japanese air force, but the government refused to authorize such action.

Word from Amoy said four Japanese destroyers had arrived there and sent ashore a landing party. Eyewitnesses returning to the international

Japs Suffer First Repulse

Shanghai, Jan. 29 (INS)—Japanese troops have been defeated in their attempt to capture the north Shanghai railway station after hours of desperate battling with Chinese regulars. This is the first reverse sustained by the Nipponese.

Chinese and Japanese military authorities provisionally agreed to a truce at 6 o'clock tonight, promising they would order their forces to cease firing at 8 p. m. (7 a. m. Eastern standard time).

The truce was arranged by United States Consul-General Edwin Cunningham and British Consul-General Brennan.

Two hours after the truce report fighting was still going on. The Japanese commander denied any knowledge of cessation.

At that time a number of Chinese soldiers made their way across the northern boundary of the international settlement, where a Japanese detachment was watching for just such a move.

The Chinese attacked a Japanese club close to the boundary and fired on the Japanese military headquarters. The Chinese were driven back.

Col. Richard S. Hooker, commanding the United States marines in the international settlement, announced that a meeting of the international defense committee would be held at 10 a. m., Saturday.

Sleep? Try and Get It!

ANYBODY WHO TRIES TO STAY UP NIGHTS WITH THIS CIVIL WAR LEVIES "CRAZY" AND "SLEEPY" SHUT EYE TILL NOON FOR NO REASON.

Settlement this evening described horrible scenes at the dressing stations which, for the most part, were filled with civilians. Among the dead brought in, they said, were a number of babies and bodies of children riddled by bullets.

The Chinese doctors were working under the highest pressure and strain, endeavoring to cope with the constant flow of wounded soldiers and civilians.

The fire which was started by the first bombing last night grew into a roaring conflagration as the attack continued. It licked its way through the narrow, wicker-like streets of the mud hut and cobblestone city as a prairie fire might attack the nests of a colony of field mice.

Six separate conflagrations roared at once. There was no one to check them and they soon outstripped the military action in danger, threatening to wipe out the greater part of the city.

The Commercial Press building and the railway station, against the latter of which the Japanese had directed several destructive bombing attacks, were finally reached by the flames and burned. The freight station farther westward also was blazing by 5:30 p. m. and another fire, under a slight northeasterly breeze, crept dangerously close to the international settlement.

BOMB LANDS IN FOREIGN AREA

Earlier in the afternoon a badly aimed Japanese bomb landed within the boundaries of the western end of the settlement and started a fire, but this was put out without casualties although considerable damage was done.

The huge bombs dropped by the airplanes with clocklike regularity threw up debris to a height of at least 150 feet. The sky was partly obscured by clouds of smoke from the fire and the airplanes swooped down through them.

The terrified people were faced with a dilemma of terror. They had the choice of staying in their huts and being burned to death or fleeing into the open to be shot or torn to pieces by bursting bombs.

HUGE PLANT IS DESTROYED

The fire department of the international settlement was gravely alarmed over one of the fires which was creeping perilously close to the settlement border on the north side. Every preparation was made to begin fighting it as soon as it reached the boundary in order to prevent its spreading.

The printing plant of the Commercial Press, reputed to be the largest in the world, was destroyed. It turned out an enormous number of English language books, newspapers and magazines and millions of copies of pamphlets and books in Chinese. Reliable reports received at 5 o'clock this afternoon said 2,000 additional Japanese troops were on the way to reinforce the 2,000 marines then in Shanghai.

Following the bomb which fell into the settlement about 2 p. m., another landed on the edge of the district. In the residential area where many foreigners live. These immediately began evacuating their homes and moving into the settlement for protection.

ANOTHER NIGHT OF HORROR

As darkness again descended tonight it was apparent that Shanghai's ordeal was far from finished and that another night of horror was in prospect for the people who have been terror-stricken through the night and day.

Chinese workers throughout Shanghai threatened tonight to go out on a general strike tomorrow as a protest against the Japanese action in Shanghai. It was expected if the strike materialized that public utilities would be paralyzed and that a stoppage of the movement of foodstuffs into the international sector might create a serious situation.

Chinese banks also declared they would not open tomorrow. The Chinese Chamber of Commerce declared a general strike in the settlement as a protest against the Japanese attack. Business was at a complete standstill.

FOREIGNERS IN GREAT PERIL

British consular and military authorities viewed the situation with growing anxiety as the battle grew and the growing fury along the border of the settlement and Chinese troops began to arrive in thousands from Nanking to resist the Japanese invasion.

Both British and United States authorities anxiously awaited news from London and Washington. Surprise was expressed by many British residents that there had been no word that British warships were speeding to Shanghai to give protection to the foreign communities in a situation, they said, that grew more dangerous every hour. Every bit of available man-power in the settlement was mobilized on the borders of the area this evening.

CONGRESS SEES DANGER IN JAPANESE SEIZURES

By FRANKLIN COLLIER

Washington, Jan. 29—Congress is thoroughly concerned over the situation in the Far East, especially the naval aspect.

A number of Senators, in private comment, compared the Japanese invasion of China, particularly of Shanghai, with Germany's sweep across Belgium in the critical days of August, 1914.

The treaties to respect China's territorial and administrative integrity, solemnly signed by the United States in 1911, have been violated by Japanese aggression, and with them the Kellogg anti-war pact as well.

Publication of the diplomatic correspondence between Japan and the United States for the month of January shows her embarked upon a policy dangerous to the peace of the world and one in which it will be difficult for the United States to avoid becoming involved.

Shanghai is 800 miles from Mukden, Manchuria, or almost as far as Chicago from New York. Harbin is 400 miles north of Mukden, or 1200 miles from Shanghai.

Simultaneous military movements on a front of this extent testify to the Japanese intent to occupy the pacification of south Manchuria announced by Japan some months ago as her sole objective has been widely broadcast to one of the gravest international impositions.

This, for a number of reasons: HARBIN A KEY CITY. Harbin is a pro-Japanese and undoubtedly Japanese paid force, in the political, commercial, railway and strategic sense, of northern Manchuria. Northern Manchuria is Russia's sphere of influence.

When the Japanese captured Tientsin, they had taken their first step toward a policy which they announced that only military necessity had taken them into this sphere and that no permanent control was contemplated. The seizure of Harbin means control in every corner of this immense territory with corresponding suppression of Red Russian control.

Harbin is a White Russian center. From it comes the White Russian league and troops which, constantly increasing reports indicate, are now being sent to the north, with Mongolia, setting up a new inner Mongolian government.

ALL UNDER JAP SWAY. This means the whole immense area of Manchuria and inner Mongolia comes under Japanese control.

Shanghai is the third largest port in the world. It is the center of the Yangtze River. If New York City was New Orleans, New Orleans was New York City, New York City was New Orleans, New Orleans was New York City.

Shanghai, held by the Japanese, would ultimately mean the suppression of our large and valuable trade with that port, just as the seizure of Manchuria has adversely affected our trade in the Far East.

U. S. INTERESTS MENACED. Military control of Shanghai means a base of operations for the Japanese navy. Japanese naval vessels can control the Yangtze river and the Yellow Sea and keep separated north and south China.

This coup in the virtual taking over of Manchuria and inner Mongolia would mean the end of the integrity of China, which we are bound by treaty to preserve.

In our present position of depression we can stand no more trade losses. We need trade increases instead.

Aside from danger of clashes between Japanese and U. S. Marines stationed in Shanghai to protect our interests, Japan's actions in the Far East rapidly creating a situation which may compel our interference despite our wishes to avoid it.

TOKIO WARNING NO RUSSIANS

Tokio, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Japanese government will hold officials of the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern Railway responsible for any delay in arrival of Japanese reinforcement troops at Harbin, Manchuria, it was stated authoritatively today.

A dispatch to the Rango News Agency from Mukden today said Gen. Jiro Tanaka, leader of the Japanese drive against Chinchow, has been ordered to proceed immediately to Harbin, Manchuria, with a division of troops.

Soviet Russia took a hand against Japan by refusing to permit transport Japanese troops to Harbin over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Fighting between two Chinese factions, one planning an independent government in Korea, and the other favoring Japan, has been going on for three days around Harbin and the Japanese are sending troops to the area.

A dispatch to the Rango News Agency from Cheungchow, Manchuria, on the railway south of Harbin, said that several Japanese trucks were out at several places in the area, including Cheungchow.

One report said the trucks were out by order of the Japanese government. Another report said they were out by order of the Chinese government.

MARINES GUARD U. S. PROPERTY IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Jan. 29 (AP)—The 4th Regiment of United States Marines, who passed the night guarding their sector of the international settlement against disorders, stayed on the job today in pouring rain.

Under Col. Richard S. Hooker the Marines have been made responsible for the entire western section of the settlement, which includes the chief residential area. The district in which they are assigned is bounded on the north by winding Boochew Creek.

It was here in 1927 that the same Marines soon after they first came to China, went into the trenches shoulder to shoulder with the Coldstream Guards of Great Britain.

BRITISH WITH THEM

As the defeated troops of Chang Tso-chang, Shanghai warlord, poured hither-skipper toward the settlement, the Marines, like that occasion, faced a definite task when the Chinese troops harassed them with wild firing, but steadily and calmly, they fought off the hordes in what is now referred to as the famous Battle of Marking Road Bridge.

Today the marines occupied the same positions and patrolled the same streets. Colonel Hooker reported that all was well along the entire front and that there was no sign of Chinese troops, although the battle in Chapel had been raging away on their right front all night long.

The British now, as five years ago stand on the left of the nation. The English troops, no longer are Coldstreamers. Instead, the 1st Battalion of the Lincolnshire Regiment and the 24th Battalion of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, totaling 2000 men, are handling the job.

FRENCH ON GUARD

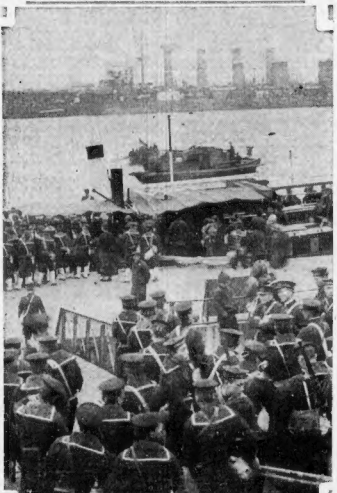

Seventeen hundred Frenchmen and French colonials guard the French Concession, 1200 of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps are on duty in another part of the settlement, and 3500 Japanese—entirely separate from the occupying force—protecting the northern district of the settlement.

Eight hundred British replacements were due to arrive today to swell the foreign garrison to 4800 men. It is the task of this garrison to guard the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of foreign property in Shanghai.

The other is the bill adding $100,000 to the $1,000,000 appropriated for the public works building to be erected near North Station. The money, which will be transferred from the highway construction bond fund, will permit the use of Massachusetts granite in the first two stories of the structure. LAST HOPE FOR SUB CREW GONE

Portland, England, Jan. 29 (INR)—With hope of rescuing alive the 80 men aboard the missing British submarine M-2 definitely abandoned, navy salvage crews today continued to drag the bottom of the English Channel near here in an effort to locate the missing craft and clear up the mystery of her disappearance.

The M-2 was thought to have been definitely located for several hours today after two signal flags, wrapped in waterproof casing, were dragged from the bottom and reported by the admiralty to belong to the missing submarine. The flags were rushed to the dockyards here, where a first examination showed, however, that they bore no markings of the M-2.

Navy officers now are inclined to believe the flags belonged to one of the more than 200 wrecks strewn over the channel floor in Dead Man's Bay, or had been dropped overboard by some warship.

RAIL WAGE CUT FOR YEAR ONLY

Chicago, Jan. 29 (AP)—Agreed at last on the $215,000,000 wage cut issue, railway labor faced forth today to face again the executives of the nation's railroads and inform them of its decision.

Indications last night were the decision would favor the rail proposal of a 10 per cent cut for a year, provided that further concessions, among them an assurance normal pay would be restored after the year, are granted the workers. Labor leaders declined to go beyond the statement they would have "a definite set of terms" conditional acceptance of the reduction, however, was indicated by one of the four large brotherhoods, the trainmen, who announced in effect yesterday.

Their workers accept 10 per cent reduction for one year and may be assured full pay the following year.

The Chinese girl of mystery who has been at City Hospital since Tuesday was identified by the Boston Evening American today as the wife of Wong Low, Boston merchant, who left Boston three months ago and went to New York. She was brought here from China under false pretenses as daughter of native-born Chinese a few years ago. She recently quarreled with another Chinese in business here and threatened suicide it was learned.

Her condition, reported as "comfortable" today, is attributed to hysteria.

Curley Goes to See Roosevelt
Meyer James M. Curley left Boston by train early today for Albany, N. Y., on a mystery visit to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was accompanied by his secretary, Cornelius A. Beardon.

At the Mayor's office it was said that Mr. Curley was in Boston as far as the force there knew. At his home it was said he was "out of town." From another source the Boston Evening American learned that Mr. Curley left the Albany early this morning to confer with Gov. Roosevelt.

It is understood the purpose of the visit is a discussion of the plans for a pledged delegation to the National Democratic convention to be headed by the Mayor. His House is outspokenly in favor of Gov. Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidential nomination.

Leaders to Meet in Employment Drive

The New England regional meeting of the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor will be held today at Hotel Statler to organize New England in the nationwide campaign to secure employment for a million more. The principal speaker will be National Vice-Commander Plummer of the American Legion.

Chinese View Sky Raid From Roofs

Shanghai, Jan. 29 (AP)—Today the Chinese population of the International Settlement did not work. There was not a roof which was not covered thick with Chinese, watching with childlike fascination, as the airplanes, swooping like hawks, turned loose their bombs upon the city.

MILLIONS DIE IN STARFISH WAR

Washington, Jan. 29 (INS)—Tall reports from the Buzzards Bay, Mass., front where the government is staging a war against starfish, which threaten to wipe out the shell fish industry in that district, showed that 4000 bushels of the pests were taken in three days. One has offered a bounty of 25 cents a bushel for starfish removed from the industrial area of the bay. Bureau of fisheries dredges will be used over 50 square miles of water.

Chicopee Employees Receive Pay Today

Chicopee, Jan. 29.—Municipal employees will receive $12,000, when the first of three suspended city payments is taken up. This step is made possible by the receipt of $100,000 of State welfare refund and the fact that no further note payments than are already provided for are due until March 15.

FOUR YEARS IN HOSPITAL

"Good bye nurse." "Thanks for anything and everything that you and everybody did for me." These are just a few of the things that Tommy Ford, 10, said when he left the Pawtucket (R. I.) Memorial Hospital yesterday. He had spent 4 years, 11 months and 19 days in that institution. Tommy will have to swing along on crutches for a while though. He is shown with one of the nurses just as he departed for his home at 285 Cowden st., Central Falls. The lad suffered from tuberculosis of both hips.

Boy Cripple Looks Forward to First Birthday at Home

Central Falls, R. I., Jan. 29.—Tommy Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ford, 285 Cowden st., is looking forward to his first birthday at home in five years. He will be 11 on February 13, and every birthday since 1927 he has spent in the Memorial Hospital at Pawtucket. For 4 years, 11 months and 19 days, Tommy has been forced to spend most of his time in bed waiting for his legs to get strong. Tuberculosis of both hips sent him to the hospital when he was not quite six, and not until a few weeks ago was he able to take a few trial steps. Physicians supposed his birthday this year would be spent in the hospital, too. But Tommy, Tommy admits he's going to find it hard changing from the hospital to home life. "But I'm going to like it," he says, "although at first I won't have so much fun. You see, I could play all day in the hospital, and there were nurses and other kids to play with."

Tommy has two great ambitions in life. He wants to be a famous surgeon, able to help little boys, as surgeons have helped him. And he wants to be a first-class baseball player, able to run as fast as the boys he saw from his hospital window, and the major-league stars he saw in the newspapers. He is a strong youngster, well developed above the waist, proud of his prowess as a wrestler. Tommy has managed to keep himself amused during the long years in the hospital. "His saving grace," the nurses say, "has been his untiring good humor. During five years, he never had his smile nor his ability to amuse himself in some way."

PINCHOT BACKS HEARST PLAN

(Universal Service)
Minneapolis, Jan. 29.—Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, told the farmers of Minnesota the $5,000,000 federal bond issue for a public works program, advocated by the Hearst papers, would be the most effective way of stabilizing their economic lives. Speaking before the Hennepin County Republican Club, Pinchot said the former "is the orphan of American politics" and it was high time he was "adopted into the family."

Answering arguments that the government could not borrow $5,000,000, Pinchot pointed out that many times that amount was borrowed during the war and added: "And of course we can borrow what we need to save our people now in time of peace. Moreover, the taking over by the federal government of federal expenses of such public works as roadbuilding

DEATH COMES TO MRS. KENNEY

Mrs. Maude R. Kenney, 40, of Boston and Shrewsbury, widow of Dr. Thomas F. Kenney, former Worcester board of health director, died today in Worcester City Hospital after an illness of a month. Mrs. Kenney suffered a shock in Worcester, on December 21 while shopping there and was removed to the hospital. Before her marriage to Dr. Kenney, who died a year and a half ago, she was Miss Maude Reber of Dayton, O. She is survived by three sons, James T. Kenney, a student at Harvard; Frank, who is at Worcester Academy; and John, a student at Annapolis Military Academy, Annapolis, Va., and one daughter, Marjorie, a student at the Franklin School.

She lived in the Hotel Somerset in this city and she maintained an estate in Shrewsbury.

EXPERTS READY FOR BATTLE AT JUDD TRIAL

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 26 (UPI)—They're going to match plain ordinary horse sense of the folks at Phoenix against the elaborate theories of alienists and psychiatrists at the trial of Winnie Ruth Judd for the "trunk" murder of Agnes Anna Levell.

County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews today announced that "five Phoenix residents will be brought into court and asked whether they consider Mrs. Judd sane or insane." Today is Ruth's 27th birthday.

BATTLE OF EXPERTS

The alienists are all here in force, for and against the blue-eyed defendant, ready to pick to pieces and reconstruct her whole life and to draw varying conclusions from the same set of circumstances.

In addition, men of medical science will discuss her lungs and her thyroid glands for the benefit of the jury.

All of this expert testimony will be given in an attempt on the part of the defense to show that the little office secretary was insane on October 10, 1931, when the state claims she killed her two friends, Elvira Sanderson and Mrs. Levell, and packed their bodies in two trunks.

As far as Mrs. Judd is concerned the only thing that appears to bother her is her hair, not her mind. While her battery of attorneys were discussing strategy, she was voicing a demand for a marcel.

MAY APPEAL TO JUDGE

Unless she gets permission to have a beauty expert come to the county jail and fix her up, Sheriff J. H. McFadden is asked to expedite another outburst of Ruth's temper.

"It seems to me this desire is a reasonable one and if the sheriff persists in denying it to Mrs. Judd we will ask for a court order permitting her to have her hair dressed," one of her attorneys said.

ILL WOMAN BATTLES MAN

FRANCES TANKEL BENJAMIN TANKEL MRS. BESSIE TANKEL Mrs. Bessie Tankel, divorced mother of two children and ill in bed with the grip, disclosed today how she battled off an intruder who sought to attack her at her home in Barton st., West End. She used a bread knife to put the man to rout. Her children, Frances, 5, and Benjamin, 3, were out at play at the time. (Staff photo.)

WOMAN IN SICK BED FIGHTS OFF AN ATTACKER

A bitter battle on her sickbed, in which she wielded a breadknife to ward off assault, was revealed today by Mrs. Bessie Tankel, 22, of Barton st., West End, divorced mother of two children.

Mrs. Tankel told police a house-to-house canvasser entered her home yesterday when she thought his knock on the door was that of her physician, and called, "Come in."

"I was in bed with grip and couldn't cry for help," Mrs. Tankel said.

"But when he got too fresh I picked up a breadknife and told him I'd stab him if he came near me. He grabbed me by the throat and I thought he was going to choke me."

Dominick Marchione of Hull st., North End, later called at the Tankel home and said after the assailant escaped that he, too, thought the man a doctor.

The Tankel children, Frances, 5, and Benjamin, 3, were out at play during the attempted attack, Mrs. Tankel said.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—Sylvester Hess of Watervliet, a witness in the investigation of the murder of Jack (Legs) Diamond and Paul Lent, of Albany, were found on the floor of a rent strike building, unconscious from knife wounds.

Hess was slashed five times in the back and Lent had one wound in his head. It is believed they fought over a night club girl.

N. E. Kin Aid Battle to Save Millions Going to Dogs

Chicago, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cousins of the late Mrs. Marion E. McConnell, wealthy widow, are trying to keep 40 per cent of the bulk of her $250,000 estate from going to the dogs and other animals.

The cousins, Augustus Day Warren and Horace Ellis Warren of Putnam, Ct., have filed a contest suit on behalf of themselves and four other cousins, John Vernon Warren of Haverhill, Mass.; Susan Ellis Marshall of Otisville, N. Y.; Carrie Ellis Lake of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Marion E. McConnell of Forest Hills, N. Y.

They charged that the will, which already has been admitted to probate, was illegally drawn, and asked a sixth of the estate for each of the cousins.

Mrs. McConnell willed $50,000 each to Mrs. Lake and Mrs. McConnell, but ignored the others. She provided that 20 per cent of

THE POOR BANKERS, A TRAGEDY IN ONE ACT

BY GILBERT SELDES

THE EPIDEMIC OF ADULT MENTAL PARALYSIS which has been going on for nearly three years has reached an acute stage. It is, as experts have discovered, induced by the repetition of meaningless words, or of phrases which lose meaning by repetition; some of the sturdiest and healthiest minds of the country succumbed to "around the corner" and some to "sixty days"; in some brains the illness was caused by a germ called "infatuation" and in some by a knock on the skull, called "deflation." I do not know at what point the contagion caught me; heaven knows, I was exposed enough. But I do not expect to recover from the latest attack—I am one of those whose faculties go entirely to the bad under the impact of such a figure as $2,000,000,000.

The Dreadful Dole

Mr. Arthur Brisbane's mind resists this infection, and he says with quiet cynicism, "Some little people do not understand how it is that the Government, which has nothing for them, and shudders violently if you mention the word 'dole,' can find a handsome two billion dollar dole for banks and corporations. They should remember that this is according to Scripture, for it is written, 'To him that hath shall be given.'"

As I recall the argument, the dole is un-American, is opposed to the rugged individualism which is the foundation of American prosperity (and please do not say, "Of American what?") and corrupts our integrity of character. Since I believe whatever I read, I can foresee what will happen.

Act I: Scene 1

The scene is a banker's office. The banker and his chief depositor (who is also his chief borrower and head of a corporation) are sitting with bowed heads in melancholy silence. A small depositor enters.

SMALL DEPOSITOR (to the banker): I'm sorry to disturb you, but you wrote me that my account is overdrawn. I've got a loan on my insurance, sold my car and hooked my watch, and now I've got a balance of $150.

BANKER: Congratulations. And you did it without borrowing from the Government. Study fellow!

GREAT DEPOSITOR: How I envy you your rugged individualism.

SMALL DEPOSITOR: Thank you. Say, things are looking up for you, aren't they?

BANKER (glumly): I suppose so.

SMALL DEPOSITOR: You've got two billions to play around with, haven't you?

GREAT DEPOSITOR (sadly): We've got to admit it.

SMALL DEPOSITOR: Then why the gloom?

BANKER (to great depositor): You tell him—I can't! (He sobb.)

GREAT DEPOSITOR: You see—it's only—(he breaks down and cries). Oh, the shame of it all, the shame of it all!

BANKER (joining in): The lasting disgrace! The dishonor to our children!

GREAT DEPOSITOR: How shall we ever face our stockholders again? What can we tell them?

SMALL DEPOSITOR: Why, what's the matter? Don't you want the money?

BOTH (together, eagerly): You bet we do!

SMALL DEPOSITOR: Then what is it?

BANKER: Our individualism!

GREAT DEPOSITOR: Our Americanism!

BANKER: Our character!

SMALL DEPOSITOR: Well, say, if it makes you feel so bad, I'll take over your share!

BANKER: Poor fellow! Little do you know what you are offering to do. No, we can't accept your sacrifice. You go on enjoying your rugged individualism, and we'll go on submitting to—I can't say the word.

GREAT DEPOSITOR (sighing): A dole.

(The small depositor goes out and shoots three clay pigeons as a gesture of pity and terror.)

A Man With Friends

I am convinced that the only man in America who has friends is Rudy Vallee. About any one else you can write what you please; readers will disagree with you, amiably, pointing out your errors. Some will even wait a day, giving themselves time to discover what you have actually said, and whether it has any sense. But if Mr. Vallee is mentioned, his admirers send to letters before the newspaper is dry on the streets. One correspondent informs me that while I wrote about Mr. Vallee in the Scandals in curiosity like an article said to have been written by a press agent whom Mr. Vallee refused to employ—and would like to know whether this is pure coincidence.

Another gives me a short resume of all the qualities which have made Mr. Vallee a success, none of which I denied, and adds, "Your article calls forth the thought as to what you columnists will do when the day arrives when Vallee is no longer available for your belittling paragraphs. One wonders who the next victim will be."

May the day be far distant! May Mr. Vallee prosper and grow old with richer and richer friends! But the question seems a little belated. It seems to me that the columnists are already writing more about Ring Crosby and Russ Columbo. And for those of us who do not know these gentlemen, there is always the economic situation.

A Good Quarter

I was happy to hear again my favorite quarter hour on the radio, station KUKU, "the voice of the diaphragm enacting," led by Raymond Knight, a really mad, really amusing period which burlesques all the other presentations, and does it mightily well. I am peculiarly impressed by the lady referee who is called upon to give the household advice and who spoke recently about the ardeousness. The other night the music was remarkably sour, the poem to the evening was coldly inspiring, and Knight himself was in the ardeousness. A kind word should also be said for the weariest and most melancholy of station announcements, who, reluctantly, cross the hour for this mass. It is a Saturday afternoon event, henceforth, and even if it conflicts with the little one's bedtime story, it is worth watching.

BAKER TAKES 2 HURDLES OVER ROOSEVELT

LOUIS FEROLD

New York, Jan. 29 (New York Times)—The two hurdles which Mr. Baker has successfully negotiated this morning are the League of Nations and the prohibition issue. The first is the League of Nations, which Mr. Baker declared apparently as disturbing Franklin Roosevelt.

The first is the League of Nations, which Mr. Baker declared apparently as disturbing Franklin Roosevelt.

The second is the prohibition issue, actually the most irritating of the two. Mr. Baker's ground strength as a presidential candidate is largely due to the popularity of his views regarding it.

Baker is in favor of the repeal of the 18th Amendment, which harmonizes with the attitude of all northern and a great many western Democratic leaders.

In his individual report as a member of the Wickersham Commission, Baker said:

"In my opinion, the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed, and the whole question of policy and enforcement with regard to intoxicating liquors, remitted to the states."

The views of Roosevelt on both subjects have yet to be defined by him, in sharp contrast with the frank statements of Mr. Baker.

WILL MATCH BAKER.

Prevailing Democratic opinion is that Mr. Roosevelt will "at least match Mr. Baker on the League of Nations. The base for this belief is the statement made by Col. E. M. House yesterday.

Col. House is regarded as the managing director of the Roosevelt presidential boom. Therefore, his declaration that he agrees with the views of Mr. Baker is viewed as significant.

Predictions were made by New York leaders today that Roosevelt will find a way to clear up uncertainties regarding his international opinions without waiting for the New York Legislature to adjourn.

On prohibition, Roosevelt will probably experience more difficulty in making the position assumed by Mr. Baker. Most of Roosevelt's support to date has been provided by southern states, which have rejected Al Smith four years ago.

Mr. Roosevelt has a very squarely lined themselves up against a program of the wet to make prohibition the paramount issue of the coming campaign.

How he is going to make the effort to win up to him.

GARNER AN ANTI-DRY

Of the prospective contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination, Smith, Baker, Roosevelt, Young and Traylor are known to be definitely wet. The same is true of Byrd, Hull and Murray.

Speaker Garner voted against the 18th amendment and the Volstead act. While the sentiment of Texas, his native state, is apparently dry, the popular Speaker would undoubtedly experience little difficulty in getting its support and that of other southern states.

Baker's stand on prohibition is certain to encourage the wets in the Democratic party, and to increase his personal chances for overcoming the surface advantage now apparently enjoyed by Roosevelt.

One effect is able to provoke lively competition to produce a satisfactory prohibition plank in both national contests. Many referendum formulas are already in process of construction.

A sign that the wet Republicans find encouraging is that the referendum proposal is apparently gaining support in their party despite the pronounced dry views of Mr. Hoover.

ROAD TESTS FOR AUTOISTS

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 29 (AP)—"It wasn't Hagen, it was only medicine," the widely used excuse of motorists accused of driving while intoxicated, may soon be rendered futile if by those actually inebriated.

Dr. Walter M. Bartlett today advocated a law to make compulsory blood tests on persons arrested on suspicion of driving while under the influence of liquor, to establish the amount of alcohol in their systems.

Under such a law, he said, "it will no longer be possible for so-called parties to escape punishment when guilty by the subtleties of expelling away intoxication on the basis of having taken vomiting and sedative medicines."

$53,000 Record Price for U. S. Document

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—The $53,000 paid by Gabriel Wells for the "Olive Branch" petition from the Second Continental Congress to King George III established a new price for American historical documents.

The purchase by Wells was at the sale of the library of the Marquis de Lottin. The previous record was $1,000 paid by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach in 1928 for a Button Gwinnett manuscript.

British Polo Pony, 'Hero' of War, Buried With Honors

Los Angeles, Jan. 29 (AP)—Simple services today marked the burial of Restire, 24-year-old 12-100 polo pony decorated by the British government for bravery under fire during the World War. Shown fire wounded her right hip and she carried the war proudly.

Restire died in action. She dropped from a horse attack on her owner, Laddie Sanford, noted poloist, rounded a turn in a fast polo game.

Other noted players in the game, including Capt. Pat Stark, Eric Pedley, Elmer Roache, Howard Padlock and Charles Howard, gathered around the stricken pony and doffed their helmets. They carried the remaining charges to the game.

To Make Talks of Crime Confessions

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 29 (AP)—Talking moving pictures on prisoners' confessions were proposed today by Special Prosecutor George F. Leach. Such a plan, he said, would frustrate claims often made at criminal trials that the defendant's statements were obtained through coercion.

NO CUT IN STATE PAY—ROOSEVELT

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—Gov. Frank B. Roosevelt's latest answer to demands for state salary reductions is that the state must not save money by taking it from the pockets of its employees.

He said that cutting of salaries by private industry was only an equalizing process so far as state employees were concerned that the state salaries had been low in 1928 and 1929.

The Governor said his $293,000,000 budget could be cut $15,000,000 to $278,000,000 if the Legislature agreed to drop some of the projects.

Among these he included highway work, which he said was giving employment to about 1,000 men.

Youth Returns for Wedding, Nabbed for Auto Theft

William N. Lewis, 24, of Linden St., Waltham, who had been sought by the Newton police for more than a week for the theft of an automobile, was arrested after he ventured to return home to attend the wedding of a brother.

Arraigned in the Newton court, Lewis pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful appropriation of an automobile and was sentenced to two months in the house of correction. The stolen car was the property of Merrill C. Nutting of Bradford St., Chestnut Hill.

HINDUS BURNED ALIVE IN RAIDS

Delhi, Jan. 29 (AP)—Scores of Hindus were burned alive today as armed Muslim mobs looted their way through the state of Kashmir in a revolutionary march on Srinagar, the capital.

A staggering tale of bloodshed followed was told of the raids aimed to overthrow the Hindu government of Sir Hari Singh, known to the Western world as the famous "Mr. A." of the London $1,500,000 blackmail case of several years ago.

Temples were reported desecrated. The government was said to be paralyzed and powerless.

Refugees sought shelter in British territory.

IT WOULD LOOK RATHER SILLY FOR US TO SAY uncomplimentary things about Escudero on his departure in view of all the nice things we treated you to on his arrival, but we would FEEL even siller if we didn't. You know he was the much-heralded Spanish dancer, and company, who danced in Symphony Hall on Wednesday evening for the benefit of himself and company, as well as the Disabled Veterans' Hospital Service.

If snapping one's finger-nails and beating a rat-tat-too on a chair seat is ART, then we are Willa Cather. From the applause which must have shaken the chandeliers, one would have thought a most exquisite talent was being presented. It was in our opinion a rather second rate vaudeville act.

There is nothing we like so much as helping unknown artists find a kind reception in Boston, second only to assisting in our small way the various charities which come to our attention. But when we accept an artist AS SUCH in good faith and he turns out to be just another dancer—well, he cannot do it to US and get away with it.

Features Missing From Program

IF VICENTE ESCUDERO IS THE RESULT OF TOO zealous a manager and press agent, who sold him to the committee in charge of this worthy charity, it is regrettable. But we ask him, where were the castanets of silver, gold, copper and aluminum which sounded "like the tinkling of a thousand silver bells," where were the fairy heels that challenged La Argentina, where were the costumes so unique they belonged in a museum, where was the dancing that almost any trained student could not have accomplished.

Monotonous

THERE WAS A SIMILARITY of steps and gestures which was monotonous, the costumes were cheap and not pleasantly picturesque. Escudero's personality was over-asserted and he seemed to be counting his one, two, three punctiliously. In fact, we didn't like him—in fact, when he is placed in the same realm as La Argentina, we want to tell the world he doesn't belong there.

Pretty Partners

BUT, WE WERE THE ONLY one who thought so, from the loud and noisy acclaim he received at the hands of Boston's best. Curtin call after curtain call he had to take, and his pretty partners were a close second in favor. Carmita was an adorable little figure as she danced with grace and abandon in the tippy numbers and Carmita was so lovely to look at we forgot to water her toes. However, there was very little varia-

Movie Benefit Ushers Are Announced

A new announcement from Mrs. George S. West, chairman of the committee in charge of the benefit movie at Loew's State Theater tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, confirms the exciting rumor that the two attractive and clever stars of "The Band Wagon," Fred and Adele Astaire, will assist her in choosing the winners of the "Lucky Number Best" contest. The full list of ushers and girls who will sell candy includes the Misses Frances Proctor, Lucy Hamilton, Constance Kimpson, Mary Harbour, Polly Brewer, Carolyn Samson, Frances Seaver, Eleanor Hallowell, Elizabeth Keshiman, Betty Richardson, Martha Rice, Gertrude McKinley, and Dorothy Harding, all sub-debs; Hope Hubbard, Martha Seabury, Jean, Beatrice Mary Cleveland, Molly Harlow, Anne Peabody, all debutantes of the current season; Barbara Glendon and Mary Bingham, of West Newton, two young girls; Ada Dawson and Rosemond Gardiner, post-debs, and from the young married group, Mrs. Robert C. Terry of Chelsea, the former Mrs. Martin Upton, and Mrs. James R. Carter, 26 and 28, of Everett, Mass., Jr., who with Miss Isabella Grandin is in charge of the ushers.

Books—And a Number of Things

By CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

IST ED FRIDAY—TOWNE—Books

A first novel came to my desk the other morning which has been heralded by critics of no less importance than Rupert Hughes and Alice Waugh. I read what they said with an unmoved spirit. Then, casually, I opened the volume. It was called "Forever and Ever," and the author was a name unknown to me—Warren Spence. I have since learned that that is the nom de guerre of a well-known literary editor of one of our most popular magazines. I read the first chapters with keen zest. Here was reality; here was some one writing of ordinary, everyday people who knew them thoroughly; here was bitter truth, as I projected, unable to put the book down. Honesty of purpose was evident on every simply written page. It was the kind of literary integrity that Vice Deiner displayed in her first book, yet it was in no sense an imitation of that writer's method. It is the best kind of writing, simple as rain, as unpretentious as the elements. Jim Norton, the central character, is a youth in an advertising agency, trying to get along. He leaves his middle west town and makes the great pilgrimage to New York, seeking a career. But before he does so he has fallen in love with Constance Burnett, who is also engaged in an office—one of those normal American girls; efficient in her duties, looking out on life serenely; pretty, cultured, refined. After Jim gets to New York he becomes involved with another girl, and finds it difficult to rid himself of her. He is honestly in love with Constance and writes her a proposal of marriage. But disorder, and even chaos, is his portion due to his vacillating nature. He is the type of male who is weak and is finally dragged down through drink and his inability to conform to the rigid rules of the game. Nothing could be much better than the description of his wedding, so happily arranged, so truthfully reported. "Forever and Ever" is the stuff of which good novels are made; and I shall watch eagerly for the next volume from the pen of Warren Spence. Whether or not you are a collector of first editions, you will be interested in and should not miss an essay by Christopher Morley in the February Atlantic Monthly. It has some wise and witty things to say, as always. He starts right off by uttering this statement: "What I happen to be in complete accord." "I am not a bibliographer; not even. In any exact sense, a bibliophile. I have a certain suspicion of those who are over-sedulous of paper, bindings, types, and margins. Like any man in his senses, I prefer well-made, work-

League Ushers

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE USHERS were from the prettiest of its members. Frances Gardiner and Barbara Young were very smart in their black evening gowns with gay ribbons, and from the young married group, Mrs. Robert C. Terry of Chelsea, the former Mrs. Martin Upton, and Mrs. James R. Carter, 26 and 28, of Everett, Mass., Jr., who with Miss Isabella Grandin is in charge of the ushers.

In Beige Satin
BETTY SOULE WAS AMONG the throng in beige satin, and while not exactly a pretty girl, she has that well-loved, New England assurance that is noticeable. Miss Eleanor Sears, wore her white hair in a pompadour and Katherine Lane, the talented daughter of Mr. Gardiner, M. Lane, was negotiating a blonde mustache.

From North Shore
QUITE A NUMBER WERE noted from the North Shore—Mr. and Mrs. John Saltontall, dark-haired Margaret in a pink coat. We saw her on the street yesterday in a very chic plaid dress with short green velvet jacket, worn with silver fox fur. It was very effective and different. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burroughs were in a corner surveying the crowd. Orchid Anne in black, and just as lovely an ever. Mrs. Harold Condit was talking fast as usual in her many anecdotes and Mrs. Augustus Putnam, one of the important members of the committee, came in character for the occasion in Spanish red tuffed gown with mantilla and comb. She looked very stunning and her hair, which she wears in bangs on her white forehead, heightened the illusion of a Spanish lady.

U. S. RUPEE AND ROBBED, SAYS SPRECKELS

New York, Jan. 29 (INB)—Foreign diplomats duped the United States politically, and foreign wealthy duped the country financially, Rudolph Spreckels, San Francisco banker and sugar magnate, told the round table conference of the Association for Better Citizenship.

Industrially, he added, America today also had been misled by the erroneous idea that out-throat competition and the country money.

Spreckels said of unemployment: "Voluntary charity can not cope with an economic situation, nor is it likely that high spirited men and women will permit God's bounteous provisions, made for all mankind, to be doled out to them by a minority whose greed and lust for power has brought unhappiness to so many others and deprived them of a fair share of the necessities of life."

BOAT FIRE ENDS EXPLORING TRIP

Baton Rouge, La., Jan. 29 (AP)—The Latin American expedition of five youthful explorers ended here today when their boat Quest burned at the Mississippi river mooring, injuring two members and destroying all their equipment.

On checking finances the youths said they believed they would just be able to pay expenses back to Pittsburgh, Pa., their starting point eight days ago. They were Frederick H. Wright of Rutgers University and Stanley Stephens of the University of Pittsburgh. They were slightly burned before they could leap into the water.

The other members of the party were Edward T. Jones, J. Mortimer Sheppard and Edward R. Foote, all of University of Pittsburgh.

The group, known as the Pennsylvania Pan-American expedition, had planned to determine whether white Indians exist along the Mississippi river and to study Mayan architecture in the Yucatan and Guatemala areas. They also were seeking a fly-fishing tropical plant.

3 Die While Seeing Sights From Plane

Monticello, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Three men plunged to their deaths in a night-time airplane crash as it went into a spin and lost a wing.

Fred Weisner, 28, batonrouge pilot, from Hartford, Conn., and his two passengers, Harvey Watson, 28, and William C. Sargent, 20, were killed as the plane crashed to earth.

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this ailment.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to excite the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently pushes the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tea-spoonfuls daily—in various cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use for dressing. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Bill Collectors Use Sheriff's Badges and That's Too Much!

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—Things have come to a pretty pass in Nassau County, Sheriff David Dows issued deputy sheriff's badges to some 100 persons, including friends.

Dows has learned that the badges are being worn by real collectors, process servers and other unauthorized persons.

So he ordered that all badges be returned to him, even if he loses a lot of friends.

Girl Fights Showing of Undraped Portrait

New York, Jan. 29 (INB)—Bee Jackson, night club entertainer, was caught to have foreign artist's eyes gaze upon her picture in the nude for which she posed in Vienna, but it was a different matter when she found her picture gazing upon her form when the portrait was exhibited in a burlesque house lobby. She asked Supreme Court to restrain the showing of the picture.

PHONE REVENUE SHOWS 1931 INCREASE

The 1931 revenues of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. were nearly as large as those of 1930, though the number of phones disconnected has been much larger than those installed according to the annual report of President Jones to stockholders today.

Jones recalled the first report of the directors in 1931 when they showed $5,000,000 in revenue, pointing out the increase in subscription revenue despite adverse economic conditions.

Today's report indicates the progress of the company has been satisfactory in spite of very similar conditions.

Telephones disconnected are largely in the lower residential grades, the report notes, while pointing out a slight gain in the number of business telephones installed.

After payment of the usual dividend there was a surplus of $1,000,000 of which $84,000 was earned in the first half of the year. Surplus earnings in 1931 were $1,147,000.

Father and Son Day Too Much for Gang

New York, Jan. 29 (INS)—A father and son both prominent in the underworld, were arrested today for their part in a quick killing of a man in a gunning job at the city jail.

The father, John J. "Boss" Quinn, 45, was arrested with his son, John J. Quinn, 25, who is a younger brother of the father.

The father captured the son of the father, the son of the father, the son of the father.

CHARGES 'LOVE THIEVERY'—DIVORCE?

TED HEALY

CLAIMS HER LOVE WAS STOLEN

Mrs. Betty Healy is holding the papers. She has announced that a divorce suit will follow her $250,000 "love claim" against Mary Brown Warburton, socially prominent in Philadelphia and New York. Mrs. Healy indicates that her husband, Ted Healy, her former stage partner, and the society "butterfly" had trysts in Atlantic City and New York. She insists that

"IT'S ABSURD"—MISS WARBURTON

Miss Warburton showed gifts on the stage comedian. Also that in New York Miss Warburton's car, with her chauffeur, often waited at the stage door to speed Healy to Miss Warburton's apartment. In the meantime Miss Warburton says the suit is "absurd." Healy isn't talking. So there you have two sides of a triangle.

SISTER AGAINST BROTHER LIKE A NEW 'JULIET'

By DOROTHY DUCAS

International News Correspondent
Societism, N. Y., Jan. 29 (INS)—A man, a mad and a love that led them to forewarn their families. Shakespeare wrote the story centuries ago.

Today a modern "Romeo and Juliet" is being played in this little city, where Rose E. W. Allen has ranged herself on the side of her dead sister, Francis A. Donaldson, against her brother, Edward H. B. Allen, charged with Donaldson's murder.

The 1932 Juliet plays her tragic role, not from a tomb beside the body of her slain lover, as did Shakespeare's heroine, but in the harder, longer part of living woman, faced with the choice between family loyalty and devotion to the memory of the man she loved.

And Rose has chosen her dear Romeo.

Her appearance before the grand jury, where her testimony was the last heard before an indictment against Eddie Allen for trial was handed down, has shown the girl definitely as one with the clan of Donaldsons.

The tremendous struggle with her own nature since the shooting has sapped her strength, but not her loyalty.

Her true love does not exist in modern times, that light-hearted youth has no place for the deep-rooted affection. But they could not gaze upon Rose Allen's face and be unconvinced that she regards herself even as old Juliet, waiting in the tomb to find Romeo dead at her feet.

CATCH CONVICT VISITING BRIDE

Detroit, Jan. 29 (INS)—Jack Farfield, seven-time prison escapee was held by police today but let go, however, his companion when they fled from the state prison in Milledgeville, Ga., had eluded a search spread over the entire city. Harvey has escaped 13 times.

Farfield was caught in the mansion of a wealthy Detroit now in the South.

"Lee was with me, but he had the cops to the dick," Farfield said.

Farfield told how the pair drove North after escaping. He was drawn here by his Stearns-Rover bride whom he married last winter during one of his free periods.

Farfield has been serving a life sentence for murdering a Mason, Ga. planter during a holdup.

"Jack wrote me a week ago and said he would be seeing me soon," the wife said when a police guard was posted about her home after Farfield's escape.

"But I think he is too smart to come here until police vigilance is turned off a bit."

Another 'Tough Guy' Bites Gangdom Dust

New York, Jan. 29 (INS)—"I'm a white guy. They'll never get me," Thomas Datalino, tough guy of the street, said by police in the dress suit in the such unassuming jacket, boasted when enemies threatened him for being a "tough man."

Today he was dead, shot down by a machine gun (loaded in Brooklyn by a black masked gangster execution squad in an automobile).

HARDING 'SMALL TOWN' MAN

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—The eighth volume of the Dictionary of American Biography, published today, estimates President Warren G. Harding as a man swamped by the difficulties of office. The evaluation, made by Allan Nevins, historian and journalist, is issued with the authority of the American Council of Learned Societies.

"In every respect he fitted the small-town environment," writes Mr. Nevins. "He was easy going and frank in admitting his lack of unusual abilities or intellectual tastes."

In the first year after his death his name was so clouded that few could honor or defend it. Yet it must be recognized that a heavy responsibility for his second fall upon the party and nation which elected a man of moderate abilities, weak judgment of character, executive ability and total lack of vigilance to an exacting office.

"In minor station he was a useful and likable man, and it was his cruel misfortune that he was lifted to a post beyond his powers."

FULLER PLAYS AUTO TAX PLAN

Bitter protest against the proposed federal taxes on new autos, and flaying of the proposal to extend state credit to financially distressed cities marked the address of former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller at the Old Timers' dinner in connection with the Auto Show at Mechanics building. The club is made up of men who have been identified with the auto industry for 25 years or more.

Denouncing "political pussyfooters" who, he claimed, had refused to declare themselves on the issue of the proposed imposition of additional federal taxes on autos, Fuller declared flatly that Sen. David I. Walsh, of the state, was the only political representative in Washington who has outspokenly opposed the measure. A telegram from Sen. Walsh, expressing his determination to fight against the proposed tax, was read at the meeting.

Fuller urged all members present to sign an answering wire thanking the senator for his support and assuring him of their cooperation. The measure, signed by all the men present, was sent to the senator last night.

ASK PROBE OF RATE ON SHORT TERM LOANS

Fin. Com. Head Charges Bankers Are Unfair in Their Financial Dealings

Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of Boston Finance Commission, today filed letters with President Gaspar G. Bacon, of the Senate and Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House of Representatives asking for an immediate investigation into the action of the banks in demanding a high rate of interest for short term notes of the city of Boston in anticipation of taxes.

In a statement issued when he filed the letters, Goodwin said: "The city of Boston will soon be in the market for a temporary loan to finance the payment of departmental expenses until the taxes for 1932 are collectible in September."

"The negotiations are in progress for the consummation of the loan and indications are now that unless action is taken to prevent the taxpayers of the city of Boston will be subjected to another series of treasury raids which have been perpetrated by the leading bankers of the city. The same may be said with reference to other financially sound municipalities."

"I therefore request an immediate investigation into the situation by a committee of the General Court."

"Banks now holding upward of $7,000,000 of the city's money, on which they are paying the city only 1 per cent, are preparing to extend credit to the city at a charge of 8 per cent, although they know that at all times while the loan is outstanding Boston will have millions of dollars on deposit with them."

"In 1931 the city borrowed $24,000,000 on short term notes and paid an average of 13.5 per cent on it as a total cost of $16,000. Every such note was paid up the minute due. If the banks that usually take these notes are allowed to get away with it, the city will pay approximately $600,000 for the same service in 1932 and approximately $1,000,000 in 1933. The General Court can prevent it."

CANARIES SAVED FROM FLAMES

Thirty-five canaries trilled happily at 23 Bristow st., Cambridge, today, with the disagreeable feature of last night put out of their lives ahead.

The 35 canaries, had it not been for their owners, Joseph Arruda and his son, Joseph Jr., as well as little Dorothy Arruda, 8, and her sister, Rose, 6, would have been put roasted and well-browned birds.

Fire started in the basement of the building and worked up to the first floor before being extinguished.

The canaries, six or seven in a cage, were snatched up when the smoke first started to roll into the first floor apartment, and were rushed out to the street and safety.

GIRL SAVED BY BROTHER

The life of Julia Matteo, 19, of Hanover ave., was saved by the heroism of her brother who leaped for the gun hand of her jealous suitor, former sweetheart and dined him in a terror.

Joe Biersa 37, of Taver st., North End, who is alleged to have attempted to kill the girl because she would not become reconciled to him after a quarrel a month ago, was in Haymarket Relief Hospital today with a fractured jaw. Only the presence of her brother, Lloyd Matteo, 22, a laborer, in the Matteo home, saved the girl from death, according to police.

Biersa, enraged at the remarks of the girl, pulled the gun from his pocket and fired a shot at her. Lloyd made a leap for him, pinning his arm. In the struggle four more shots were discharged.

BOSTON BEAUTIES PUT BOASTING NEW YORKERS IN SECOND PLACE

Arlene Drake of West Medford, artificial flower shop, Jordan Marsh Co.

Carolyn Murphy of Cambridge, toilet goods department, Filene's

Dorothy Breault, Dorchester, dress department, Gilchrist's

Lenore Hackett of Boston, perfume department, Filene's

Eleanor Godfrey of Brighton, leather goods department, Gilchrist's

Did you know that London boasts about its pretty shop girls? Did you know that when New York heard of it, that city did a lot of boasting for its own store girls? It all caused a smile in Boston. Surely the boasting Londoners and New Yorkers had not visited Boston's department stores. This quintet of beautiful store girls ought to get the New York beauties out of the race. The Boston Evening American's roaming photographer will show you more of Boston's beautiful store employees tomorrow. Each girl whose photograph is used will receive two seats to "Trick for Trick," at the Plymouth Theater.

Biennial Elections Urged for Malden

Mayor William A. Hastings, of Malden, with Maj. Louis R. Routh and others, for City Solicitor Meritt J. Brown, and Councilman Max Rosenblatt, of Malden, appeared before the committee on cities at the State House to advocate biennial elections for Malden.

By ROAMING PHOTOGRAPHER
"British department store girls are the loveliest in the world." Oh, yes? Well, here's one homebody who casts a big and noisy dissenting vote in the above "racket" of the London Daily Express. And here's another blurb published by a New York newspaper, "Manhattan stores are staffed with beauties that can't be beat." CHALLENGE FOR ALL. Now what do you think of this, dear readers?

Well, in the name of all Great Britain, male and female, I challenge New York and London to a test of pugilistic and literary prowess to show them and all the world with myriads of cameras. Today you are published here with the photographs of five lovely Boston girls, all employees of downtown stores, and there are only a few in half an hour I found more beautiful girls. I'll bet that all that London or Manhattan shops can produce and the game's only just started.

MORE TOMORROW
There may be some daisies radiating through Pierrelia Circle, going to and from their day's toil, and there may be some girls not so hard to look at over there in Gotham, but string along with me a few days and I'll prove my point, and you'll be crowding in to see the girls that my camera singled out. And just to make it more interesting, there's a big two tickets to the Trick for Trick matinee show

Trick for Trick, written in part by a Boston girl, Vivian Conby, now playing at the Plymouth Theater for such and every young lad that I photograph. Tomorrow I'll be out again picking out Boston's finest salesgirl, clerk, etc.
FIVE BEAUTIES
Here are the first five girls I picked. Arlene Drake who graces and how the artificial flower shop at Jordan's. She lives in West Medford.

Carolyn Murphy of Cambridge, who makes it an event for a man to remember to buy toilet articles at Filene's.
Dorothy Breault, Dorchester dress department, Gilchrist's. I'm glad I didn't miss her.
Lenore Hackett of Boston, perfume, Filene's. What a treat!
Eleanor Godfrey of Brighton, leather goods department, Gilchrist's. One of my food favorites. More tomorrow! Oh boy, what a lot!

The MYSTERY of "THRILLS"

Are You Thrilled When You Watch a Parachute Jumper and Won't Breathlessly to find Out if the "Unbreakable" Will Open in Time to Save Him?

Science Stumped to Explain Why Thrills are Pleasurable to Some and Terrifying to Others

SCIENCE cannot tell why the same sight or episode thrills one observer enjoyably and horrifies another. It seems odd that science cannot even explain what a thrill actually is, for, according to Sir Arthur Thomson, famous biologist, thrills are among the commonest experiences of life. The subject, the great scientist believes, is one that urgently demands study—as pointed out in the unusual article about thrills, in The American Weekly, next Sunday. Be sure to read it!

HOW MORRELL HELPS MCCOY WIN AT ARENA

IRON POSTETS
TAD'S FAVORITE INDOOR SPORTS

Jack Conway Gets Break in Toss of the Coin

"Give the credit to the toss of the coin," said Jack Conway in referring to the fact he picked Bibber McCoy to back Al Morrell. Conway, who is the manager of the wrestling arena, and enabled the latter to furnish the biggest upset of the wrestling season.

Even a former Boston College football hero cannot crush his nobles down against an iron post and feel much like knocking the opposition over.

That's what happened to Al Morrell when he started shooting through the air at Bibber McCoy in their wrestling quarrel at the Arena.

Three times Morrell buried his intellectual brow a couple of feet into McCoy's fat midsection. He had Bibber barked into a corner. It looked very much as if Morrell was going to win.

STAGE SET FOR B.C. OF C. MEET

By GEORGE UNDERWOOD
Athletic history will be made in the Boston Garden, tomorrow night, when the clans gather for the annual B. C. of C. meet.

Protest Morrell, the champion of the B. C. of C. in the 150 lb. class, is expected to win the title. He has been undefeated in his career. The other contenders are expected to be strong.

BATTALINO IS When Nelson Stopped Corbett in Tenth

HOW CORBETT STOOD AND TOOK IT

© The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

New York, Jan. 29 (INS)—Christopher (Battalino) Battalino, dehydrated featherweight champion, and his manager, Pete Reilly, today stood to lose at least $50,000 in cold cash as the result of the Battalino-Miller fight in Cincinnati Wednesday night.

Suspended everywhere except in their home state Connecticut, the pair today had lost their "burning" money, and the end is in sight.

Disputed by the Cincinnati press, which ended with "Batt" being thrown out of the stadium against his stable-mate, promoter James J. Brannan, of Madison Square Garden, announced he had called off the prepared bout between Battalino and Billy Petrol.

This "natural" would have drawn a gate of $75,000 if held at the Garden last month as scheduled, and would have netted Battalino and Reilly about $15,000.

Shut at Cincinatti Title Also Lost

Battalino apparently has lost his chance for a shot at Tony Canzonero, the 125 lb. champion, who is expected to fight the 135 lb. champion, Billy Petrol, in a similar case when he is here at the Garden.

Reilly, who is Battalino's manager, is expected to be here at the Garden, and will have something to say about the wedding of the two.

A collection, authorized by the N. E. A. U. for the benefit of the American Olympic drive, will be taken at the meeting.

Bruins Showed Fight in Tilt With Ottawa

By GEORGE UNDERWOOD
Puck corners to not only the outstanding goal authority in this section, and rated with the best in the country, but he is a very close follower of all sports and especially hockey. He handles all of the Bruins' news tickets, and to prove that the news is an unexcusable hold on him he is a good judge during the game of the Garden.

As Told to Bill Grimes by FRED CORCORAN

For an all around thrilling game, one which showed that the Bruins were the greatest club in the N. H. L., a Bruin-Ottawa game a couple of years ago in the battle I will always regard as the greatest game I ever saw.

Two nights previous to this game, the Bruins' winning streak of 14 straight had been broken by the New York Americans. The Bruins had won 12 and lost only four games. They were practically assured of a playoff position. Although it was only mid-season, after a team has run with a string of victories and is finally broken in the usual custom of the Bruins, the Bruins were still battling to preserve that record.

For more than 35 minutes, the game was a deadlock. The Bruins fought but they were unable to break the Senators' defense.

Eddie Shore's Goal Started Wild Cheering

Just five seconds before the bell, Eddie Shore pulled the equalizer. The Bruins rallied with the wildest cheering I have ever heard.

The game was just the tonic that the Bruins needed to get them on a scoring rampage. After fighting along deadlocked, 1-1 for four minutes, the Bruins opened up and averaged a goal every four minutes for the remainder of the game. They averaged all over the Senators, routing them completely.

Light Cosses Are in the St.

New York, Jan. 29.—Moderate setbacks were seen in the Wall Street trading today. Moderate selling brought recessions of 2 to 4 points in initial trading for some of the "blue chip" issues, and prices worked down the scale through most of the first hour.

The second period saw some stocks rise a bit, but the list hovered around the early lows in dull trading.

RAILS ARE LOWER

The railroads worked off a point or two. Among issues that depressed were New York Central, New Haven, Atlantic, Delaware & Lackawanna, Rock Island common and preferred, R. & O. C. & N. Y., and Harlem and Illinois Central.

A note here of the fact recessions of a point or more were seen for Coca-Cola, Bethlehem, American Tobacco, Cigar, Curtis, Chesapeake Corp., J. I. Macdonald Gas Company, International American, Hersey, Eastman, Kodak, McKesson, Western Union, Westinghouse, Ingersoll Rand and International Telephone Machines. U. S. Steel traded mostly at fractional discounts.

The weekly Federal Reserve Bank statement disclosed no change in the prevailing trend toward deflation. Notes in circulation declined $100,000 and credit outstanding showed further contraction of $200,000.

The weekly statement on brokers' loans showed a decrease of $180,000, marking the 21st decline in recession and reducing outstanding to a total of $1,815,000.

WALL STREET SKEPTICAL

Wall Street received favorably the early Chicago reports, but was skeptical of the prevailing trend toward deflation. Notes in circulation declined $100,000 and credit outstanding showed further contraction of $200,000.

Developments in the Far East were closely watched, although bankers continued to permit to confidence that the Sino-Japanese dispute would not be permitted to get out of bounds.

Foreign exchanges were steady, with sterling cables quoted at $2.60.

The bond market showed a reactionary tone.

CUP MARKET UPPER LOWER

New York, Jan. 29.—Reactionary tendencies held away in early cup dealings today, with a continuation of aggressive professional pressure resulting in further price declines all along the line.

American Gas & Electric declined in the utility group with a drop of 10 to 15 points. Electric Bond & Share dropped off to a new low on the movement of 10%, for a loss of 10 to 15 points. Electric Bond & Share dropped off to a new low on the movement of 10%, for a loss of 10 to 15 points.

Utilities were the most active in the specialty division pushing ahead with 10 to 15% for a gain of 10 to 15 points.

This gain was more than offset, however, by a loss of 10 to 15 points in Aluminum and a dip of 21 points in New Jersey Zinc.

Goldman Sachs and Atlas Utilities were in the van of a nominal setback in the industrial group, with both receding fractionally.

Utility Financing Viewed as Likely

New York, Jan. 29 (AP)—Investment banking circles here said that additional public utility bond offerings are likely in the near future as a result of the favorable investment response to the New York Edison Company offering of 8 percent bonds.

Scullin Steel Co. Net Loss $499,289

A net loss of $499,289 for the year ended December 31, 1931, was reported by the Scullin Steel Co. in its annual report, as against a net profit of $1,183,400 in 1930, equal to a 14.3 percent preference stock.

LOOKING FOR PROFITS

J. K. Scoville—What would you say to a purchase of New York Central, United States and Public Service of New Jersey? How high are these stocks to go on the present price when normal times return?

Ans.—Future market prices cannot be determined. If you are looking for profits, one stock might be as good as another. There seems to be some fear in regard to the steel industry. The earnings of United States and Public Service are not reassuring. Public Service of New Jersey appears to be earning the $5.00 annual rate.

THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Baron Taken for a Ride

Cook-Cooks

By TED COOK

"Prohibition," says Dr. Clarence True Wilson, "has done more to clean up politics than anything in the past century."

At any rate, it has done more to help politicians clean up.

And we all know it has done a lot to make it necessary to clean up the modern home on Monday morning.

SNAPPY COME-BACK

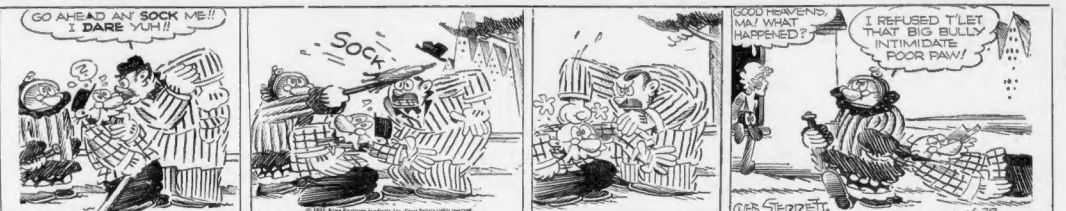

"Clyde Lawson was at a table the other day and struck Oscar Adams for a chew. Oscar knew Clyde, so he said, 'All right, gimme a nickel.' Clyde gave Oscar the nickel and took the chew. Oscar looked at the nickel Clyde handed him and shook his head. 'You beat me that time, Clyde,' he said. 'I ought to have charged you about seven cents.'"

This is a picture of a radio chatter who has perfected a system in a bar and draws out names in pairs, immediately announcing them as engaged.

Another man whom I, with glee, would play in manner hearty, is he who phones at half-past three and says "Come join the party!"
